Sweet Springs Man Guilty As Charged

KANSAS CITY (AP)- Elmer Eckhoff, Sweet Springs, Mo., today pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court to a charge of converting mortgaged property to his own use.

The 42-year-old farmer, the government alleged, put up 7,-510 bushels of corn as security for two loans from the Commodity Credit Corp., totaling $7,298. In the first four months of 1966, the government charged, he fed 5,725 bushels of the corn to his cattle.

Judge William R. Collinson deferred sentencing pending a check of Eckhoff's background.

Ugly Side, and the Bright more the home of the brave-those brave enough to walk on some of our city streets at night-and less and less the land of the free.

To the degree that our streets and parks are taken over by hoodlum elements, that it is unsafe to leave one's house or car unattended, that organized crime perverts the functions of local government, that crime goes unpunished and respect for the law is eroded—to that degree is the freedom of every citizen diminished.

In his special message to Congress on crime. President Johnson cited a survey made in high crime areas in two of the nation's largest cities. It was found that 43 per cent of those interviewed stayed off the streets at night; 34 per cent did not speak to strangers; 21 per cent used only cabs and cars at night; 20 per cent would like to move to another neighborhood.

"All because of their fear of crime," said the President.

The President is calling, in effect, for a massive war on crime in all its aspects.

This war will cost $50 million to begin with and up to $300 million a. year thereafter, not including another $200 million a year in spending by lower levels of government which the America is becoming more and President hopes the programs will generate.

> There can be no argument that crime is a major problem in America that urgently requires something approaching the major assault upon it that the President asks for.

> While the ugly aspect of crime seems to be getting predominant attention these days, there are a lot of satisfying episodes of social life in America which need to receive complimentary attention. This is especially true in communities like Central Missouri where so many individuals and organizations work with and for youth

But there is one organization which has contributed to the happiness and comfort of older persons this week - members of the Sedalia Cosmetologist Association who, as hairdressers, assisted in observing National Beauty Salon Week doing charity work in institutions throughout our four-county area.

Numerous rest homes were visited by Sedalia hairdressers in Sedalia, Versailles, Knob Noster and Clinton.

Residents of these homes were given not only a hair lift, but a spiritual lift which brought smiles and appreciation for those who came to pretty-them-up and have a cheerful conversation, too.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO Dr. M. E. Gouge was reappointed a commissioner of the Twelve Mile Road district by the Pettis County Court and Sedalia City Council. He was nominated by E. H. McLaughlin and seconded by Emmet Sullivan. Other members of the commission

The Sedalia Federation of Labor decided to make plans for the betterment of the organization by re-organizing and selecting the name of Central Trades Council. More than 100 delegates were present at the meeting held in K. of P. Hall. The local chapter has affiliated with it 12 unions representing a membership of over 600 men. The following officers were elected: President, Eugene Saylor; Vice-President, Emmet Sullivan; Statistician, Harry Moore; Trustees, D. O. Templeton, P. J. Bergman and L. J. Henderson; Sergeant-at-arms, Charles Allen.

Here's How It's Done

The Post Office and Civil Service Committee of the House of Representatives has issued its annual report on federal government paperwork. And for those who like copious reports on everything, with plenty of carbons, the news is good.

The report reveals that the government finds it necessary to use 360,000 different forms and to make 15 billion copies of them every year. The annual cost of processing all this is $8 billion.

Estimating that to throw away existing records at the rate of one page every second would take 2,000 years, the committee sternly proclaimed: "The burden of paperwork imposed on the citizens by our government should be greatly reduced.'

And to prove that it can be done, the com-

Viet Cong Infiltrate U.S. Offices

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. WASHINGTON - An American official writes me from South Vietnam:

"You will be surprised to hear that I have discovered a (Viet Cong) cell operating right with our USAID (United States Agency for International Development). . . office.

"Yesterday, I fired all the (Vietnamese who work in the office) who were members of the cell.

"As a result, I have only Mr. D. . . and Miss B. . . left. Neither of these was willing to cooperate with Mr. L. . . the, cell leader. "I am confident that this situation is present in many offices here - but we Americans aren't able to discover it.

"I got my tip from a Saigon part-Chinese girl who is a secretary (in one of the other USAID offices). The information cost me 2,000 piasters (only $17 but equivalent to more than a month's wages for many officials) and promises of family assistance.

"One cell member had confided in the girl on a trip. . . and described some of their. . . activities.

"When I found documents missing from my desk I should have known what was

A major reason for Ho Chi Minh's victory over the French lay in his ability to infiltrate French military, political and ecnomic bureaus, departments and headquarters. One former Ho general told me some years ago, "Our information did not come from the shoeshine boys, those who did the laundry or cleaned the rooms. We had men in high places in the French establishment, both French and Vietnamese. We exploited the rivalries between different factions. Each was eager to give us information to get back at the others."

There is considerable evidence that the Viet Cong have penetrated the Vietnamese staffs of a good many - perhaps most - of the American offices in South Vietnam and most offices of the Vietnamese government, including the police, army and air force.

As in the French days, some of these Viet Cong exploit the rivalries between the factions. Some of these infiltrators keep their VC identity completely hidden. No one knows who they are or what they're up to except their contacts outside.

Some, however, are assigned to organizing cells within the U.S. and South Vietnamese government offices. These organizers count on the Vietnamese they contact not to expose them for fear of retribution.

These infiltrators collect intelligence for the Communists, enabling the VC to counter U. S. and Vietnamese economic and political programs in the hamlets, and they enable the VC to stir up factional fights within the offices, weakening the programs and the government in the provinces.

The military information they collect accounts for the ease with which Viet Cong units frequently evade U.S. - Vietnamese forces which have them "surrounded."

But this war against Communist agents and the cells they form is difficult for most Americans to fight. We are naturally trusting. We take what people say at face value. We find it difficult to realize this is a major part of a guerrilla war.

... and for Vietnam, We Should Need About This Much!"

Eugene Groves, NSA president, said the CIA funds had been used to help finance the group's international activities, including sending student representatives to student congresses abroad and funding student exchange programs.

Groves said "the relationship apparently originated because the CIA believed that a strong American national union of students acting internationally was in the national interest."

This was said to be the CIAs main purpose throughout - to Communist-financed youth organizations which, like NSA and similar Western groups - were not publicly sponsored by government and thus appeared to be "students

Officials of the CIA, the most secretive government agency, are saying nothing. But a former CIA director, Allen W. Dulles, who knew all about the arrangement, said, "We obtained what we wanted" in return for payments to NSA.

He said NSA representation at international student conferences threw a damper on Communist influence at such meet-

Nevertheless, CIA is being criticized for infiltrating the campus. President Johnson has instructed some government officials to form a policy that would prevent CIA or any other government agency from endangering the integrity and independence of American educational institutions.

But — the CIA was confronted with the possibility that Communist youth organizations might dominate in the international student field.

So it had to make a choice: Do what it did, try to achieve the same result in some other way, or do nothing although it is busy all over the world in a thousand ways to prevent, reduce or eliminate Communist control or influence.

This raises a question: If you were in charge of the CIA, what would you have done? One thing is sure: If the Communists did get control of the international student groups, and if this was due to the failure of the CIA to do anything and if this fact became known, the CIA would be roundly condemned here at South has a wealth of material for a three no-trump contract. At least, he is looking at 29 high card points He also is looking at cards that are likely to take only nine tricks.

Of course, if everything goes well South will make a lot more tricks. He will win the first spade, cash his ace of clubs and lead a club to dummy for a finesse of the jack.

If the finesse works, he will cash dummy's king of clubs. Then, if clubs break, he will also have time to go after the diamond suit and, if diamonds break 3-3, he will make three diamond tricks.

Unfortunately, this line of play is not going to work. East is going to place his queen of clubs on dummy's jack and lead back a spade. Later, clubs and diamonds won't break and, assuming that East and West defend correctly, South is going to make eight tricks and no An alert South should be aware of this possibility and give up any play for four club tricks in order to give himself the best play for three club tricks.

This best play starts with the lead of a club to dummy's king and a club back to the ace. This time the queen drops and dummy's jack of clubs is established. If the queen of clubs fails to drop, South still can play for three tricks in the suit. He simply leads a third club toward dummy. If West holds the queen of clubs, dummy's jack will be good. If East holds the queen of clubs and West follows suit, dummy will have a third club trick. The only losing case is if East started with four clubs to the queen and in that case no line of direct attack would work.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Some Side Effects In Birth Control Pills

> By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I am often asked how safe ovulation-suppressing pills are. The Food and Drug Administration has considered these birth control pills safe for nearly 10 years. It is estimated that over five million women use them every day in this country. This is enough to have brought to light any harmful effects they might have.

Why is it, then, that rumors of their damaging potentialities exist? This is partly because rumors of any kind are hard to squelch and partly because women who take these pills are constantly on the lookout for undesirable side effects. It is true that in some women the pills cause nausea, headache, tenderness or heaviness in the breasts or a gain in weight but these symptoms can usually be relieved by adjusting the dosage or changing to a different but closely related drug.

It is also true that some women who are taking these pills develop high blood pressure or varicose veins, but all efforts to establish any causative relationship between these conditions and the pill have failed. These conditions occur equally in women who take and do not take the pills. More important, there has been no evidence that the pill causes canlater choose to have. Q - What harmful effects does the drinking of tea have?

Will it thin the blood?

A - Tea will thin the blood only to the extent that any fluid taken in an excessive amount might do so. It will not weaken the kidneys, although an excessive fluid intake does put an added burden on them. This would be significant only if the kidneys were already diseased. Tea is a healthful drink that is preferred by many persons to coffee. Excessive amounts of caffeine from this or any other source may cause insomnia, headache, nervous tension, palpitation and nausea.

Q - When I break the glass getting the cover off a jelly jar. would it be fatal if I accident ally ate a tiny piece of glass?

A - Chewing and eating electric light bulbs was once a popular exhibit in freak shows and circus side shows. Although there is no food value in glass. careful investigation has failed to show that it does any harm. The delicate mucous lining of the digestive tract has a special way of avoiding injury in the handling of such foreign bodies. But don't eat any glass if you

Stage Set For Showdown In Valley

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG Associated Press Sports Writer

The stage is set for the big showdown of the Missouri Valley basketball race Saturday afternoon in Tulsa between Louisville, the nation's No. 2 team, and Tulsa's sophomore upstarts, rated no better than next-to-last by Valley coaches

Louisville, a recent addition to the Valley, is favored to get its first league crown on its third attempt. The talented Cardinals made their Valley record 10-1 and their season mark 21-2 by holding off North Texas 68-61 Thursday night at Denton.

Tulsa, which has shared only one basketball crown in 33 years in the Valley, stayed in the runner-up spot at 7-2 by handing Cincinnati its worst defeat of the season, 76-57 at Wichita's pressure-loving runts refused to bow out of the title picture as they won another cliff-hanger, 76-74 over Bradley at Peoria, for a 7-3 league record. Wichita's tallest man, 6-foot-5 Mel Reed, wrapped it up with two foul shots with 22 seconds left for a 75-72 edge.

In Windsor. Canada, a bakery chides the soap opera viewers with this advertisement: "Pies like mother used to make before she got a TV set."

A Chicago husband complained to the divorce court that he washed the floors and they didn't gleam as in the commercials, his wife made him do them over. Another divorcee-seeking husband did better, however, The wife was awarded possession of all household items but one. The husband hit the jackpot with the family TV

WORLD ALMANAC

The White House was designed by the Irish-born architect James Hoban in a competition that paid $500 for the best design. The 18-acre site for the Chief Executive's residence was chosen by President Washington, although he never lived in the house. The cornerstone for the building was laid Oct. 13, 1792, and John Adams was the first president to occupy the White House. Mrs. Adams sometimes hung her washing in the uncom-pleted East Room.

As legends usually go, it is based on fact and compounded by numerous fictions.

Big, gentle, humble, jocular Abe Lincoln. "Honest Abe" as he was known even to his contemporaries. From log cabin to White House laying the groundwork for a great American tradition. Country bump-

Humble he was, and honest, but not a simple country boy whom fate thrust unexpectedly into the spotlight. Once, after his election, Lincoln told a friend, "You know better than any man living that from my boyhood up my ambition was to be president." acknowledged that some cabinet members found insufferable Lincoln's "intellectual arrogance."

The misconceptions are not the fault of the man himself, but of the perpetuators of the legend. And there was much to perpetuate it -

Fights To Stay With Politicians

The Flower

Courageously day by day she fought her fight

God gave her many fine things, this is true,

The love of friends, of course, is very dear,

A sad plight for people to be in,

By all the tests and surgery she went through

With all her wordly goods she could not gain

The upperhand of illness and of pain,

She never lost her faith and her smile,

The crippled child, those needing food and clothes,

Except the ones who benefited knew,

Surely her place in heaven has been won

Of sharing what she had and being kind

A foundation laid on which we now must build;

From earth's garden God picked a choice flower.

Hazel N. Lang

And now, at last, her fight for life is done

For low a golden path she left behind

Her work here below has been fulfilled

To save her life was not in man's power

Stretched forth her hand to help one and all,

How many hundreds she has helped nobody knows,

Throughout her struggle, long, she was so brave,

Truly, alone, for she had no blood kin

Yet, as life slowed down mile by mile

She never failed to answer every call,

So quietly she gave that very few

Even in misery clung to life so tight,

But He deprived her of so many, too,

And from the grip, of pain she has release,

But when she died there were no loved ones near.

She always felt that others she might save,

She felt the surgeons might learn something new;

Her eyes at last, are closed in peace

Bridge is not an exact science and never will be. We point out in "Win at Bridge with Jacoby and Son" that there is disagreement on how to respond to Blackwood when you are void of a suit.

The Jacoby method is to start by deciding if your void is a good one. Just what is a good void, anyway. A good void is one in an unbid suit or in a suit that has been bid by your opponents. Now take a look at the bidding hearts and clubs and spades has become the agreed trump suit. South bids four no-trumps and North is void of diamonds. It must be a good void. How can he show it Our method is to show the number of aces but to bid six instead of five. Thus, North responds six hearts to the Blackwood four no-trump. Sout h knows that North has two aces ing for Civil Service jobs.

In looking back on history, just 10 years ago, on December 31, 1957, Drew Pearson wrote from North Africa: "President Eisenhower accepted a peace in Korea. It was hailed in the USA as a great victory, but actually it was a humiliating compromise. It permitted Communist troops to transfer from Korea to Indo-china, following which most of that area was lost to the free world. "Today John Foster Dulles finds himself negotiating from weakness.' DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON - A young King with a unique opportunity is visiting in Washington this week. He is King Hassan II, reigning Monarch of Morocco, and his opportunity is to being peace and better understanding to the North African Arab world.

King Hassan is an old friend of the United States. He has cruised on the airplane carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt. He has watched the Harlem Globetrotters play basketball. I last saw him in Casablanca, on a trip to entertain American troops at which time I interviewed his late father, one of the most revered Monarchs in Africa.

It was his father, then Sultan Mohammed, who met with President Roosevelt during the famous Casablanca conference between Roosevelt and Churchill in 1943. The Sultan was then a powerless puppet of the French. but Roosevelt invited him to lunch, encouraged the general idea of self-government, and arranged to have 100 young Moroccans study in the United States at the end of the war to train them to run their own country.

That really began the independence of Morocco. It also began the beneficent rule of King Mohammed V, who became a great influence for peace.

Unfortunately, since his death, near-war has developed between Morocco and its neighbor, Algeria, with Moroccan troops at one time invading Algerian soil. At stake is not only national prestige but the vast irion and other mineral deposits in the Southern Sahara where the boundary between the countries is not well defined.

Goldwater of Morocco

accompanying King Hassan on his trip is Allal El Fassi Bey, sometimes called the Barry Goldwater of Morocco, leader of the Independence party, who wants Morocco to annex vast inland areas ranging from Niger to Libya to Mauritania. Arab wisecracks in the market place have it that he will not claim South Africa, Cyprus or the Virgin

The fact that this extreme Nationalist is coming to the United States has aroused African uneasiness about King Hassan's trip. Unfortunately also, the Pentagon has been building up Morocacan arms and jet fighter strength. This in turn has led to the import of more Russian Migs into Al-

Algeria, meanwhile, has kicked out its extreme leftist, Ben Bella, and has settled down to a moderate course with close and friendly ties with France. Its leaders have tried to help bring about contacts between the Vietnam National Liberation front and the United States.

Unquestionably President Johnson, who knows the great job FDR did in launching Morocco, will talk to King Hassan about stabilizing its relations with Algeria. Johnson is working with the Russians on curtailing rival arms shipments to Africa and has proposed a joint U.S.-USSR administration of foreign aid.

Old Club Closes With Gift

By HAZEL N. LANG

The gift was five dollars.

The Children's Therapy Center receives gifts of all amounts but sometimes those at the center are more pleased (not more grateful) but more pleased over a small gift than a large one. Because of the little human interest story behind it.

That is why they were pleased over the gift of five dollars from the Fortnightly Book Club. For this was the entire amount left in the treasury, with a little contribution added, when the club disbanded for the simple reason that the years had slowed activities of the members. and they could no longer get to the meetings. Some had already reached their nineties, and some were in their eighties.

The Fortnightly Book Club was organized March 30, 1922, with Miss Mary Butterfield, Mrs. Harry Carpenter, Mrs. C. F. Ernst, Mrs. E. H. Johannes, Mrs. George McLaughlin, Mrs. Harry Pratt and Mrs. T. H. Johnson as charter members.

The club embiem was the pine branch, the club colors green and gold, and the meeting, in the homes of members, was on the fourth Tuesday afternoon of each month at 2:15.

It was that year, however, that the club was fully organized with 11 members, at the home of Mrs. Tom Johnson. The members were mostly busy and every meeting was opened with a roll call, answered by a quotation from a famous author or current event.

A program was given at each meeting, which included the reading of books by the chapter by members in turn, book reviews, travelogs, magazine articles and anything that was of interest to readers.

These reviews included the lives of great men and women. history, poetry, music, art and scientific accomplishments.

Mrs. W. P. Tucker, who was a teacher, was appointed as a critic of pronounciation.

Women who had been members during the 40 years of the club existence were: Mrs. Tom Johnson, Miss Mary Butterfield, Mrs. Ida Johannes, Mrs. Harry Carpenter, Mrs. Ed Heffernan, Mrs. George McLaughlin, Mrs. J.
